FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Rimkus Consulting Group Names Curtis R. Brown
President and Chief Executive Officer

HOUSTON, TX (Oct. 28, 2008) – Rimkus Consulting Group's Board of Directors has named Curtis R. Brown the company's new President and Chief Executive Officer succeeding S. Frank Culberson. Brown, with the firm nearly 20 years, has served as Senior Vice President in charge of District Office operations for the past five years and is a member of the Rimkus Board.

"Curtis has been instrumental in leading our corporate and district offices to profitable growth and success during his tenure," said Frank Culberson, Rimkus Chairman of the Board. "He has earned the confidence and trust of customers and colleagues alike, and his appointment as President and CEO is absolutely a reflection of his outstanding service to this company."

S. Frank Culberson will remain in the role of company Chairman of the Board. He will continue as an active, full-time employee and oversee the general business development and growth of the company.

Additionally, Chief Operating Officer Gary W. Markham has announced his retirement. One of the early co-founders of the company, Markham has been an invaluable contributor to the growth of the company and will now work on special assignments. Although he will be sincerely missed, Markham is looking forward to retirement and upcoming nuptials.

Robert P. Kocher has been named Chief Operating Officer. Kocher has served as Vice President of the Eastern Region and a member of the Rimkus Board. Kocher will retain his position on the Board of Directors and transition into an even more integral leadership role as Chief Operating Officer. Rimkus senior executives are confident that Bob's leadership abilities and forward-thinking management philosophies will help steer the company toward a successful future.
